- (Second Review. Signage has been reduced from prior review. Project may require exception findings for letter height and total allowable square footage.)
- Present: Christian Muldoon, Vogue Signs

Approved with the condition to return to Conforming with details for sign illumination. An exception is granted for letter height to exceed 12 inches due to the size of the space available on the tower element. Allowing three letters and the ampersand on each wall sign to be taller than the other letters is an appropriate solution. To limit the total letter height to 12 inches would result in the overall sign appearing too small within the given space above the arches. Granting the exception is not detrimental, and the sign conforms to the stated purpose of the sign ordinance.
